All of our editors have disappeared, either anonymously or due to school. As such, I have been forced to edit this chapter, and possibly the entire rest of volume 7. You can probably tell that I'm not an editor, so please help us out if you can. Like, seriously, we really need editors. Help! More translators would also be great, but we're in a bind right at this time. Also, special thanks to Sora Fujimori for their effort.

Thanks to Focht for joining the team as a designer! We could still use more editors, though - typesetters in particular. More translation assistance is always good as well - we are now accepting Chinese to English translators, as Chinese rows are a pain.
